The Free Silver Congressmen Are Wide Awake.

SPRINGER EXPLAINS HIS SPEECH,

And Declares Himself Anew for Free Coinage.

THE CONSPIRACY CLOSELY WATCHED

By Men Who Intend That the People's Voice Shall Not Be Throttled. Democrats on Sentinel Duty.

WASHINGTON, January 11 .- [Special.]-The silver democrats of the house were so much aroused over Mr. Springer's statement in New York that there would be no coinage legisla-tion at this session of congress, that the Illinoisan comes out in an interview today, in which he declares himself squarely for a free and unlimited coinage of silver. Mr. Springer further adds that his remarks in New York were misconstrued.

He says he has always been a free coinage man, but that he knows it to be an utter im-possibility for a free coinage bill to become a law as long as Mr. Harrison is in the white house, but notwithstanding the statement, the coinage men are more determined than ever now that an absolute free coinage bill shall, at least, be passed by the house at a very early

The Committee Will Meet.

The committee on coinage has already had a preliminary meeting, and during the latter part of this week they will get together and commence work in earnest to consider the various bills affecting silver coinage that have been introduced this session. The committee is composed of a majority of free coinage men, and these men are not going to be frightened from their views by any such talking as had been indulged in during the pass few days by some New England and other northern democrats.

Two-Third Are Free Silver Men. Two-thirds of the house are free coinage men, and while these men are not in favor of causing any split in the party, they are, nevertheless, determined in their views. They were elected on a platform of tariff reform and the free coinage of silver, and they are going to stand squarely on the platform on which they were elected. All the democrats believe that Mr. Springer's position for an international conference is meritorious, provided it is not placed in such a position as to stand in the way of free coinge legislation by this con-

A Consultation to Be Held.

On account of Speaker Crisp's illness, there has been no conference between the leaders of the party in the house. Indeed, Speaker Crisp has been too ill even to see any of his personal friends among the members, and has not been able to discuss with any one matters relating to legislation. Of course, as soon as the speaker is able to be out, there will be a conference, and then some policy will be mapped out and presented to the democratic caucus, where it can be fully and fairly discussed. This caucus will agree on some plan of legislation which will be carried out as rapidly as possible. A majority of the party believes in rushing through, as early as possible, in the session separate tariff bills, placing various articles of raw material on the free list; also in passing a free coinage bill through the house at an early date, and sending it to the senate, in order that in the event of that body passing it and then the president vetoes it, there be some ise legislation which will at least lieve, to some extent, the depressed condition of the country.

It is certain that the Sherman act of the last congress will be repealed, and some legislation issued in its stead.

The Keystone Scandal.

leaders of the house have decided to probe the Keystone bank scandal to the bottom. Today Congressman Mutchler, of Pennsylvania, introduced a resolution, which was referred to the committee on banking and currency, instructing that committee to make an investigation into the disastrous failures of the Keystone and Spring Garden National bank of Philadelphia.

By resolution, the failure of the Maverick National bank, of Boston, will also be included in the scope of the investigation. These failures attracted the nation's atten tion. Millions of state funds were swallowed up in the Keystone failure. Two officials of the bank are fugitives from justice, and the city treasurer is serving a term in the penitentiary. The sensational charges cabinet, and even to the door of the white house. The postmaster general, comptroller of the currency, and several other high officials, were mixed up, just how discreditably will appear later on. They may all be caught in the congressional dragnet. The belief is generally entertained that the inves-tigation in Philadelphia was a whitewashing affair and the democrats propose to find out the truth. The national system is at stake. These disastrous failures, each occurring shortly after an examination by federal examiners, has created a widespread distrust of the efficacy of such examinations, as measures of protection to the stockholders and de-

The Weather Takes a Bad Turn. Speaker Crisp is improving every day, but the weather is so bad that he will not be able to go to the capitol for perhaps a week yet.

AN ATTACK ON RECIPROCITY.

A Movement for Its Repeal in the House of Representatives. WASHINGTON, January 11 .- The republican Principle of reciprocity, as embodied in the McKinley act and practiced by the present administration, is assailed for the first time by locrats this session in the resolution which Mr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, asked unanimous consent to offer in the house today, as set forth in the report of the house proceedings. The resolution is a subject of great dis-tonight. "I believe," said Mr. Breckinridge to an Associated Press reporter, "that the third section of the McKinley act is unconstitutional in conferring upon the president the power to impose texes without congressional action. I also believe that the retaliation allowed in that act is not only unwise as regards our relations with foreign nations, but is really burdensome to our own citizens, for it imposes duties which they have to pay. And when this retaliatory measure is adopted only as to certain nations, it makes an unjust discrimination which may also be not only arbitrary, but may be not free from corruption."

An Offset Proposed.

An Offset Proposed.

"I, therefore, am anxious to have that clause of the McKinley act repealed; and while it may not be possible to do it, I desired to call the attention of the country to this measure, and thought it might be done by connecting this movement in the flouse with the letter which Mr. Blaine had written, and which had been published all over the country.

"And yet," continued Mr. Breckinridge, "being in favor of the freest possible trade consistent with the raising of needed revenues of the government, I appended to the resolution another instructing the committee on ways and means to report a bill repealing the third section of the McKinley act, and instructions to report in lieu of it a true reciprocity provision by which the president is given power, which undoubtedly is constitutional, to open the ports of America to the products of such countries as do make true reciprocal arrangements with us." rangements with us."

WITNESSES CAN BE SILENT.

If Their Answers Would Tend to Criminate

Themselves. Washington, January 11 .- It has now become Washington, January 11.—It has now become a settled law that witnesses cannot be compelled to testify in any criminal case where the answers might tend to criminate them in any way, or subject them to possible future prosecution. It is held that the fifth amendment to the constitution, giving persons the right to refuse to answer questions which might be used against them in criminal cases, must be construed in its broadest sense. Such is the effect of a decesion of the United States supreme court today, in the celebrated interstate commerce case of Charles Counselman, appellant, vs. Frank Hitchcock, marshal of the United States district court for the morthern district of Illinois. northern district of Illinois.

Judge Gresham decided against Counselman, and held him in contempt of court for refusing to answer questions, and it is an appeal from Judge Gresham's order that the case decided Judge Gresham's order that the case decided by the supreme court today came up. The court's ruling is that Judge Gresham's order was erroneous, and that Counselman cannot be compelled to testify. It has been said that the effect of the decisions by the courts that wit-nesses cannot be compelled to testify will seriously hamper the interstate commerce commission in the administration of the interstate commerce act. The court's decision was Senator Teller Leads Off in the Silver Conference Suggestion.

Washington, January 11.—In the senate Mr. Teller introduced a joint resolution providing for an international bimetallic agreement. The joint resolution was read. It declares it to be the determined policy of the United States government to use both gold and silver as full legal tender money either under the rates now existing in the United States or under one that may hereafter be established by the United States alone or in accord with other nations. A conference is then provided for as heretofore indicated in Huntsville, Ala., January 11 .- [Special.] The county convention met today and so close was the Jones and Kolb vote that a compromise was agreed on to preseve harmony in the ranks of the democratic party. Four delegates each for Jones and Kolb were selected to attend the next convention, who were instructed by resolutions to vote for Justice Richard W. Walker for re-election to the supreme court of Alabama.

INAUGURATION OF M'KINLEY.

The New Governor of Ohio Inducted Into Office. COLUMBUS, O., January 11.-William Mc-Kinley, Jr., was inaugurated governor of Ohio today.

The occasion has been non-partisan, political riends and foes of the new governor all joining with the utmost harmony and zeal in the inauguration exercises and parade. Owing to the inclement weather, the exercises were held in the senate chamber.

Tom Watson's Bill.

Washington, January 11.—Representative Watson, of Georgia, today offered a resolution instructing the house committee on judiciary to investigate the Pinkerton Detective Agency; examine its charter; inquire into its methods and purpose; to ascertain the number of armed men it maintains; upon what terms those men are used or can be employed as militia, and to report whether such organization, either in its charter or its operations, violates the constitution of the United States.

Charleston's New Officers. Charleston, S. C., January 11.—[Special.]—The reform aldermanic caucus bursted up tonight, and the distribution of city offices at a meeting of the council tomorrow night, will be a "go-as-you the council tomorrow night, will be a "go-as-you-please" scramble. It is generally conceded that, Alderman J. Elmore Martin, who was leader of the reform movement, and who declined the nom-ination of the mayoralty, will be chief of police. There will be few changes in the other offices.

Rewards for the Detection of a Murderer FLORENCE, Ala., January 11.—[Special.]—Rewards amounting to $3,200 have been offered for the capture of Lester Walker and Henry Houston, who murdered W. A. Halev in Tuscumbia, several days since. The rewards are offered by the secret societies that Haley was a member of. The mur-derers are thought to be hiding in the mountains, and officers are searching for them.

About the Necessity of Party Unity at Present.

THE HOUSE FLOODED WITH BILLS

Of All Kinds, Covering a Multitude of Things Not Hitherto Thought Of.

Washington, January 11.—[Special.]—Colonel E. B. Stahlman, of Nashville, has been here for a week, looking after the interests of the southern railroads and steamship Colonel Stahlman has recently been tendered the position of chairman of the consolidated railroads and steamship lines of the southern states, and, although he has not accepted yet, it is in the capacity of representative of these lines that he is now here, looking after their interests by studying the various measures that have been introduced affecting these railroads and steamship lines. Something like three score of bills have already been introduced, and they are being ground out every day. Colonel Stahlman goes over to New York tomorrow to confer with the representatives of the association, and give them a definite answer as to whether or not he wil laccept the position. His friends say he will accept it. Certain it is that there is no better quali-fied man in the United States to represent such interests. Colonel Stahlman, besides being one of the best equipped railroad men in America, is a very level-headed politician. He had a con-ference with Senator Carlisle last night about the position of the democratic party at pres ent, and strongly advised him to use his influence in bringing the divided factions to-gether, and have them set aside personalities and work solidly for the interest of the party in the next campaign. Senator Carlisle agreed with him that that was best, and promised to use his influence to that end.

The house was in session two hours today, but nothing was done other than the introduction of several hundred bills.

Colonel Moses, of Georgia, introduced one to amend the law providing for the federal court at Columbus, so as to leave the length of each session discretionary with the judge. The bill was suggested by Judge Newman, of Atlanta. His reason for asking this at the hands of congress was because the original law provided for a two weeks' session, and he thought at times there would not be enough business to warrant such a session. Colonel Livingston introduced a bill to re-

Senator Call now occupies the seat, but Mr. Davidson will on next Thursday argue in support of the legality of his claim of being a senator from Florida. He will argue that the governor's certificate makes his claim to the seat legal, and that Senator Call should be made to vacate and he be allowed to take the oath of office.

While there might be some justice in Mr. Davidson's claim, yet the matter is already practically settled and Senator Call will retain

Peffer's Idea of Finance

Senator Peffer, the allianceman from Kansas, is making a reputation for himself as one of the most picturesque of American asses. the Virginia Society. A GREAT SOLDIER AND STATESMAN,

Who Began His Career When a Beardless Boy-After Fighting Through the War He Fights in Politics.

Next Tuesday is General Robert E. Lee's And the Virginia Society of Atlanta will observe it in a manner showing clearly their ove and devotion to the old chieftan. Hon. Charles T. O'Ferrall, of Harrisonburg, Va., will be the orator of the occasion, and in the most beautiful oratorical manner will echo the fame, grandeur and high Christian character of the soldier and patriot all the south loves and all the world admires. No happier selection could have been made than Hon. Charles T. O'Ferrall.

From '61 to '65 General Lee had no more faithful soldier than Colonel O'Ferrall. There battlefied to Appomattox that the colone would not have gladly given his life for the cause he had espoused, or for the safety of the great warrior of whom he will talk next Tuesday. After the first year of the bloody strife, when O'Ferrall had shown his worth as a sol dier, he was close to General Lee nearly all the time, and knows probably as much of the great general as any living man today, with the possible exception of Dr. J. William Jones, of Atlanta.

Golonel O'Ferrall was born near Berkeley Springs in Morgan county, now West Virgina, and was only fourteen years of age when the war began. His home was then almost, if not quite, within the union lines, and it was with some difficulty that the beardless boy made his way into a confederate camp, where he asked permission to enlist. His youthful face was against him, and the commanding officer declined to have him at first. But when the lad was given an opportunity to talk he quickly convinced those about him that he was not only fearless and brave, but that he loved the south and its rights better than he loved all

Since that day many honors have been heaped upon Charley O'Ferrall, but I doubt very much whether any or all of them ever caused him as much joy as his first confederate uniform. He came from one of the best and oldest families in Virginia, and was reared surrounded by everything heart could desire. From his earliest infancy he manifested a great fondness for outdoor exer cise. He was especially fond horses and when he entered army quickly became distinguished for his fine horsemanship. He sat his steed with an ease and grace that won the admiration of all and the envy of many. No horse was every too fiery or wild for him, and he was happiest when mounted upon one hard to Charley O'Ferrall had just as little fear of the union bullets as he had of a wild horse, and where the fight was the hottest and the charge the most impetuous, daring and reckless, there ne was, always wearing a happy smile and carrying a drawn sword pointed to the front. Before the first year of the war had gone by the boy soldier had won his commission, nd from the day he was given a lieutenant's bars his promotion was rapid. He was more like the dashing, generous J. E. B. Stuart than any man in the confederate army, and was equally petted and idolized by his Time and time again his blood flowed for his cause. A hand-to-hand sword contest was one of his greatest delights, while a duel with pistols at short range always made him more in love with his life on the battlefield.

Twenty-one times he was wounded during he war, twice almost fatally.

A good, brave soldier always makes a loyal itizen, and when Charley O'Ferrall, wearing a colonel's stars, went home after the war he settled down to serve the country he had fought. With the same zeal, energy and industry he had fought the union, o upbuild it. The war not only left him impoverished, but left him the sole support of a mother, four sisters and a younger brother, as well as a wife, one of Mississippi's fairest daughters he had won during the war. A man as brave as Charley O'Ferrall could not be disheartened, and, with the same happy smile he wore all through the war, he started in to make living for them. The defeat did not unman him, and, with an ambition to make his name equal in civil life to what he had made it in military life, he went to work. Immediately after the war he located in Lexington, Va and in addition to making a good living for his large family attended the law school at the Washington and Lee university. General Lee was then president of that school, and from the same hands Charley O'Ferrall had received so many war orders he O'Ferrall had received so many war orders he received his law diploma.

He was yet young, but without a dollar.
Everything appeared to be against him.
But Charley O'Ferrall never thought of defeat. He went from Lexington to Harrisogburg—my oid home—and there hung out his shingle. He was a polished, cultured gentleman, a good lawyer, and quickly made friends and acquired practice. He rapidly developed into a fine orator, and in a short time was considered the best speaker in the valley. His natural trend was to politics, and in a short time Charley O'Ferrall went to the legislature. He made his race on the proposition that West Virginia ought to pay a part of the old debt.

Throughout his term Colonel O'Ferrall made a reputation which pointed to a future full of brightness in the political world. At that time Hon. John T. Harris, a brother of our own uncle Jimmie, now gone, and uncle of the popular and prosperous Nat, Clem and Dan Harris, was in Congress. He was then the strongest man politically in Virginia, but Charley O'Ferrall had an eye on his seat. The sight was a good one, and now Colonel O'Ferrall is considered the strongest man in the Old Dominion.

the strongest man in the Old Dominion.

He'll be the next governor. See if he isn't.

And then United States senator.

A brave soldier, a successful politician and a good citizen always make a devoted husband and a tender father. Charley O'Ferrall is both.

And when he comes next week, Atlantians will find him not only a fluent and happy orator, but a genial gentieman who loves his people of the south, and is willing to give his all for them.

HOLDING COURT IN COLUMBUS.

Judge Newman Opens the United States Court There. Court There.

Columbus, Ga., January 11.—[Special.]—
The first United States court ever held in the history of Columbus under the bill which was introduced and passed by x-Congressman Thomas W. Grimes, creating the western division of the northern judicial circuit, was convened here today. Judge Newman and all the court officers came down from Atlanta this morning, and the court was duly organized, and a recess taken until 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The grand and traverse jurors were drawn, followed by the sounding of recess taken until 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The grand and traverse jurors were drawn, followed by the sounding of the criminal docket, which revealed the fact that there were some eight or ten criminal cases, mostly of moonshiners, to be tried. It appears that the majority of the witnesses were farmers, who at present are busfly engaged in putting in their crops. After some discussion with the members of the bar, Judge Newman decided to adjourn the court till the summer term, by which time the crops will be harvested. There was quite a large attendance, and the members of the bar were much pleased with the facilities which are offered to both lawyers and witnesses. Judge Newman and the court officers leave in the morning for Atlanta.

We wish to submit that to a careful, competent and unbiased examination, and when the facts are found as to the appropriation of the money resulting from the proceeds of the bonds, to accept from the state such amount, with such small interest as the government of the state may feel warranted in giving.

government of the state may feel warranted in giving.

"A full inquiry should be made of the waste of money, if there was any, of the price obtained for the bonds and the appropriations of the proceeds, by those getting it of the bondholders, that both the state and bondholders may know the precise amount for adjustment of the question. We will assist the state, or its committee, in any way in our power, and provide our portion of the expenses for such inquiry, and will do our utmost to uncover all the facts of the whole business that none need afterwards question the worth of the settlement. We will take for the settlement, bonds of the state to any period of existence at 3 per cent interest, and do for the state any act, for funding its debt or otherwise, that may be wanted, and if requested, will fund all its debt at 3 per cent at par.

"Astorbal liability of the state upon any debt at 3 per cent at par.

"As to the liability of the state upon any bonds, in case a state could be sued, if the committee can determine such questions and agree with the committee of bondholders, we will leave it to the supreme court of the state, or any judical power the committees may choose. "No fraudulent claim should be allowed, of "No fraudulent claim should be allowed, of course, nor any bondholder paid who was a party to any fraud upon the state with respect to such bonds. We will be as willing to uncover frauds as to find worth or validity of claimant's bonds and we will do, in fact, everything the state authorities can wish, for a per fect and desirable settlement of the whole matter.

"The amount of bonds owned by bond-holders I represent is about five million dollars, or over. In my opinion all will accept the settlement thus proposed. I can only speak with absolute confidence as to those I represent.

"This no more than, and scarcely different agreement. "It is no more than, and scarcely different from what was done in Virginia in its agreement with bondholders, just passed, to wipe off the whole state debt of $28,000,000 by giving bonds bearing 21 per cent interest, and after ten years 3 per cent and running 100 years, and giving $19 for every $28 of indebtedness. This state can settle as profitably—I think far more so—than Virginia settled with her bondholders; and there is no more reason for a settlement in Virginia than here, so far for a settlement in Virginia than here, so far as I am aware.

"As soon as the two committees had agreed upon a settlement of the debt in Virginia, public meetings were held in different cities of the state to ratify and applaud the settlement. Bonfires were kindled in hundreds of places and the people expressed their delight beyond anything ever witnessed in the country over such a matter as that."

"Has the credit of Virginia prior to this settlement been anything like as good as that of Georgia?"

"No, sir. The bond matters were so jumof Georgia?"

"No, sir. The bond matters were so jumbled and mixed up that nobody knew head nor tall about them, and you might say there was no price for them—although there was a price, for the resources of the state was known to investors."

Mr. Philbrook expresses the opinion that payment of these bonds would bring a large influx of capital to Georgia. The State's Side Given.

The State's Side Given.

He has given the bondholders' side. It would not be fair for it to go out unaccompanied by a brief statement of the position of the state. This position was tersely expressed by a gentlemen who was a witness of the whole proceeding from beginning to end. He said:

"These repudiated bonds, hearly nine millions in amount, were all issued in two years, while the state has nothing to show for them but the governor's mansion and the old capitol, which was sold for $130,000. They were issued fraudulently and contrary to law, by a government which was a usurpation."

The anology between the Virginia bonds and the Georgia repudiated bonds is not good. The Virginia debt was contracted by Virginians before the war; the bogus Georgia bonds were issued by the carpet-bag government in the times of reconstruction, when the state was well nigh bankrupted by rascality.

Street Car Men Strike in Indianapolis. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., January 11.—Everybody is walking today. The street car strike is still on, with no prospect of settlement. An attempt was made to run a car on College avenue by Secretary Anderson. The strikers swooped down on the motor, compelled Anderson to leave it, and it now stands abandoned a square from its starting point.

TELEGRAMS CHEAPER

But the Telegraph Companies Are Losing Money.

SQUIRMING UNDER THE COMMISSION.

Mr. J. M. Stephens, Superintendent of the Western Union, Hasla Word to Say. A Modification Asked For.

The Georgia railroad commission has placed its boot heel pretty firmly upon the necks of the telegraph companies by its late rule bearing upon their charges for telegrams, it would

The last legislature passed a bill giving the railroad commission power to regulate telegraph companies' charges as well as railroad rates, and the first rule ordered by the commission was one to require the telegraph companies doing business in this state to discontinue no office where telegrams are received for the public without first obtaining consent from the commission, the claims of the company to be set forth in writing and sent to the commission in advance.

It was also ordered that no telegram of ten words, or less, shall be sent between any two points in the state with a charge of more than 25 cents. There are a good many instances in which the Western Union has been charging more than 25 cents between Georgia points. But the commission further ordered-and this is the rub with the telegraph companiesthat all messages shall be repeated for the sender free of cost. Mr. J. M. Stephens, superintendent of the Western Union company for the fourth division, was seen yesterday, and asked how these new rules would operate.

"They will work very seriously to the detriment of the Western Union," he said with emphasis. "While I have no desire to criticise the action of the commission with unreasonable hastiness," he continued, "still I must express my surprise that such a law should be passed, especially without a showing from the telegraph companies."

"How will it hurt you?" was asked.

"Chiefly in requiring us to repeat message free of charge. At present, we get fifty per cent of the original charge for repeating. If a telegram costs 25 cents, then we get 121 cents for repeating on demand of the sender to see if it was sent correctly. Really, though, it costs as much to repeat a message as it does to send one-just the same.

"Let me tell you something about the cost of sending a message which maybe you don't know," and as he spoke he reached for the annual report of the president of the Western sage by the Western Union," he went on, "is 23.2 cents. To repeat means 46.4. As it is, very few people ask to have a message reand in this way we can afford to repeat for half price, but the minute a law is passed making it absolutely free we will have to repeat nearly every message. This will be a palpable hardship to us, and I am frank when I say that I see in this movement much to tempt the Western Union to abandon Georgia. The fact is just this: The Western Union company is making no money in Georgia, anyhow, nor in the south as to that. It is positively losing money in the south. In North Carolina they have passed a law similar to the Georgia law, leveling all ten-word messages to 25 cents, but this rule requiring free repeating is too much. If these rules keep up, the company will have to abandon Georgia. I do not think the Georgia legislature intended to put us under such extreme measures as these, and I believe the railroad commission will modify their severe rules if they will give us a hearing, which, I think, they will do in the near future.

"It may surprise you," said Mr. Stephens, "but it is strictly true that the Atlanta office costs annually $60,000, and the Augusta office $30,000, the expenses of the two exceeding the total gross receipts from business in the of Georgia. It appears all the harder, in the light of these facts, that the company should be subjected to such harsh measures as the railroad commission seeks to shoulder upon

One thing seems certain, that the Georgia state railroad commission has entered fully upon the discharge of the power and authority bestowed upon them last session, and are legislating for the interests of the people decidedly. They seem to be after cheaper telegrams, and it cannot be denied that they have started in a way fully calculated to secure them.

The matter is an interesting one in whatever light you view it. It is especially interesting to the people of Georgia, since it gives them telegraphic facilities which they have not previously had

At the same time, the telegraph companies At the same time, the telegraph companies give a very interesting version of the case. It is interesting at this time to observe the average cost of sending messages since the war. From the report of the Western Union, it is seen that in 1868 the cost was 63.4 cents; in 1869 it was 54.2, and the figures gradually fell off each year until 1890, when the cost went down to 22.7, and last year went up again to 23.2.

THE STRIKERS MEET.

A Meeting Held at the Courthouse Last

A meeting of the striking street car men and those who are in sympathy with them was held at the courthouse last night. About four hundred people were present, and the strikers seem about as determined as over.

Mr. G. E. Stillman, president of the street car men's union, presided, and introduced the speakers.
Mr. L. P. Barnes, Mr. J. C. Manning, Mr. H. L. Driscoll and Mr. Kent were the president.

Every speaker was heartily cheered, and much enthusiasm was shown. The drift of the speeches was "hold to-tether," and be conservative and prudent. An idea was suggested, and it met with a great deal of approval, to start a system of hacks in opposition to the street car company. The boycott idea was impressed with great emphasis.

A Communication.

A Communication.

The following communication, received by The Constitution, explains itself. This paper, as it always does, has endeavored to be perfectly fair in its reports, and has given both sides of this, as it does of every other question. We have no ax to grind, and would not use the workingmen of Atlanta for our own selfish purposes if we could. The people of Atlanta are interested solely in a full and fair report of the news, which we always give. The public certainly would not approve of The Constitution's use of its own columns to stir up strife for its own advantage, and it to stir up strife for its own advantage, and it has always been our policy to avoid such a plan.

Following is the communication:
EDITOR CONSTITUTION—As a laboring man, let me thank THE CONSTITUTION for the manifest fairness with which it has dealt with the trouble between the Consolidated company and its emniorea.

The morning after the trouble occurred, it gave

Of course we understand all about anonymous Of course we understand all about anonymous cards that are attributed to us, and with which we have nothing to do. We recognize THE CONSTITUTION as just as good a friend of the working man as anybody. We also recognize the fact that its motives are purely disinterested. We cannot say as much for others who are always willing to use the workingman whenever they can, and whose very keen interest at certain times can be directly traced to causes which need no explanation here.

directly traced to causes which need of the tion here.

As for the strike against the Consolidated company, we believed that we were doing right and stood on principle. If others have been chosen to fill the places vacated by us, we at least have the satisfaction of knowing that we did what we thought right, and that we fought for a principle which should be if it is not sustained.

Application was made to Ordinary Calhoun yesterday to take some action in the case of a crazy man now confined at police head-But he could take no action in the case, as the identity of the man is shrouded in deepest ystery. Ordinary Calhoun could not adjudge the man insane, and have him committed to the lunatic asylum, unless he knew him to be a citizen of this state. This he does not know, the name of the trange prisoner not even being known.

Judge Calhoun asked that all possible publicity be given to the fact that the unknown man was in the custody of Atlanta officers, in order that something might be learned as to his identify. The man was picked up on Ponders avenue

The man was picked up on Ponders avenue last Friday night, wandering aimlessly around. He was very well dressed, and had the appearance of a gentleman in easy circumstances. He believed himself to be in Macon, and said he was possessed of a vast fortune, and had come to the city with a view of investing his surplus wealth. He gave his name as F. J. Carroll, and said that he had been arrested in Texarkana, Tex., on a variety of charges, among them murder and arson.

He was very hard to get along, but was finally locked up.

THE LITTLE CHILDREN

Governor Northen Puts a Great Work in Their Little Hands.

THE WORLD'S FAIR WORK TAKING SHAPE.

The Governor Puts in Some Good Licks of Woman's Work.

If Georgia has an exhibit at the Columbian exposition, the little school children of the ate will have the credit of laying the foundation to the great work.

Yesterday the governor put into actus operation the scheme for raising the fund for Georgia's display, which was recently outlined in The Constitution, and now it remains for the children's little hands to begin gathering in the nickles and the dimes.

The following circular letter will be mailed by the governor this morning to every county school commissioner in Georgia: The Governor's Letter.

The Governor's Letter.

To the County School Commissioners of Georgia: The state executive committee desires your aid to securing a worthy exhibit of the state's resources and the progressive enterprise of our people to be put on display at the worid's fair at Chicago.

I, therefore, appoint you to represent the school interests in your several counties, and ask that you give such general aid to your commy board of directors as may be in your power.

I am sure it is not necessary to urge the importance of such an exhibit as our plans contemplate, and the state's interests demand. We have undertaken a great work for the state in which I want to interest every little child. Help from the children of the state will be a tribute to be appreciated, as it will but manifest some little appreciation of the great benefit the state is conferring upon them.

We cannot begin too early to attach the little people to the state's interests, and awaken them to patriotic devotion to its institutions.

We will not expect large contributions from this source. If each child attendant upon the public schools of the state will give us a dime, we will obtain from this source more than one-fourth of the amount necessary to make the display. Any one of them can do this much. Many of them can do more. I would suggest that you appoint the teachers in your counties to aid you in presenting this matter to the childen so that we may have the name of every child in Georgia recorded as giving a mite, however small, to the grand work of build-

It's guaranteed—and no other medicine of the kind is. If it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back. Wouldn't every medicine make the same terms if it could do as much good? But the "Discovery" acts differently, just as it's sold differently, just as it's sold differently, just as it's sold differently. It's not like the sarsaparillas, which claim to do good in March, April, and May. All the year round, with equal benefit, it cleanses, purifies and invigorates the whole system. All Blood, Skin and Scalp Diseases, from a common blotch or eruption to the worst Scrofula, are cured by it. FOR HIS LIFE.

Peter Daniels Will Be Put on Trial Today.

NEW EVIDENCE WILL BE . PRODUCED,

And Daniels and His Attorney Are Very Hopeful-Daniels's Sunday School Class.

Pete Daniels will be placed on trial for his life a second time today.

And his attorney, Mr. Frank R. Walker, is sanguine of establishing that the negro is in-

Daniels, too, is a great deal more hopeful and confident than he has been since his confinement. Newly discovered evidence, in Daniels's favor, is the cause of this hopeful feeling.

For the first time in some weeks Daniels was taken from his cell and enjoyed a walk on the streets.

He was carried to the courthouse with a batch of other prisoners, but his case was not He enjoyed the walk, however, and returned to his cell in a happy frame of mind. Daniels is one of the least troublesome pris-oners in the jail. He is very quiet, and devotes a great deal of his time to instilling Christian truths into his fellow prisoners. He is so very quiet and harmless that he is allowed to go loose with the many other prisoners in the hallway of the jail.

"I believe," said he yesterday, "that I will be cleared of the charge. Mr. Walker has dis covered good evidence, and will be able to prove that another man did it. But if I am prove that another man did it. But if I am found guilty God is with me, and I put my trust in Him. I know I am innocent, and think I have been punished enough."

Since his incarceration Daniels has grown very devout, and spends all his time reading his Bible and teaching the other negroes.

He has a well-organized Sunday school class, composed of a number of young burglars and criminals charged with all manner of offenses. Every day at a set hour Daniels calls his class into his cell—the one formerly occupied by George Washington—and closing the door to shut out the clamor in the hallway, will teach them the simple lesson. He has a great number of Sunday school tracts, furnished him by Dr. Miller, and he utilizes these in giving in-Sunday school tracts, furnished him by Dr. Miller, and he utilizes these in giving instructions to his class. The strictest attention is paid to Daniels, the man charged with murder, as he expounds the doctrines of Christ. The trial of Daniels will probably occupy today and tomorrow. Sheriff Morrow said yesterday that he had already subpensed twenty-five witnesses in the case. Sonie new developments are expected, and the evidence adduced may be such as to clear Daniels of the charge of murder. of murder.

He will be represented by Frank R. Walker, and the case will be prosecuted by Solicitor General Charles Hill. After all, the best way to know the real merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla, is to try it yourself. Be sure to get Hood's.

Why There Is More Than One Issue. The fact that two-thirds of the currence of the country is now in the money centers. and that two-thirds of this sum so congested is loaned on "call," is sufficient explanation why times are so hard over all the land, and why there are a dozen men looking for a job when any vacancy occurs. Since the war we are satisfied there has not been in Georgia as many men out of employment as now, and yet we hear of democrats who think there is but one trouble in our way, and that the tariff.

With the money congested, as every honest business man will admit, and with the increasing demand for loan money on "call," where is the relief to come from?

Loans on "call" can only be used by gamblers and speculators. No legitimate business can stand a call loan. It is a perversion of the money of the country. It grinds the man of legitimate business, and makes it possible for men who can lock up the currency in this way to rob their innocent fellow citizens of hundreds of millions. This business is but little better than that of the highwaymen and pirates of olden times, and yet we are told that there is no occasion to make any other issue except the

The farmers are told they must not plant so much. In all the field crops in Georgia the farmers had this season the largest yield ever made. Providence was unusually generous, and yet the farmers start the new year more despondent and with less courage than any year since the war. They are told that they must plant less. Half the people in the world are naked, and cotton makes the best and cheapest fabric ever made to clothe the nakenness of mankind since the time Adam left the garden of Eden. Thousands of people in the United States are unable to buy a single garment, and millions cannot purchase enough of this cheap fabric to clothe themselves properly. Plenty of men who ought to be able to buy a dozen shirts are not able to buy two. Al these wrongs can be traced to the republican financial system that fattens and builds up speculation; and encourages monopoly. And yet they tell us there is but one issue to be made in the next presidential race, and that the tariff. Did we not make this the single issue in 1888, and did we not get licked out of our

What caused it but this fatal mistake? What gave us the victory in 1890-the most brilliant ever won since the government was formed?

We fought every fraud of which the republicans past and present were guilty, and, as for free silver, the almost solid vote of the democrats in congress in favor of it was on record as against republican opposition. The result in the present overwhelming democratic majority speaks for itself.

Was there a single issue? No one will say it. The people demanded relief and they are still clamoring for it, and it must come, and come from this congress, or the people will know who to blame. Let the ocrats show a clear record.

Diversified Industries Needed. Following the example of Atlanta. Mem phis is pulling for diversified industries.

Our contemporary, The Memphis Appeal-Avalanche, believes that the establishment of manufacturing plants will give its city 200,000 inhabitants in the next ten years. It is now engaged in raising a fund of $100,000 to be devoted to the building up of the manufacturing interest, and a proposition is being considered to raise a fund of $3,000,000 by an assessment on realty for the same purpose.

Memphis is beginning to see that it is not enough to simply ship cotton, lumber and other natural products to distant points. When we take our raw material and manufacture it into every shape needed by the mass of consumers, two or three large cities will spring up in the south, besides a number of thrifty towns made so by their factories and furnaces.

Diversification is the word these days, and it is the word for both town and country. The town must diversify its industries; the country must diversify its agriculture. People cannot be prosperous when they are all engaged in one occupation. It won't do for the farmers to depend upon one crop, and It won't do for the city people to depend upon commerce alone.

Brave Sheriff Dunn.

The row over the organization of Stevens county, in Kansas, is still causing bloodshed. When the wires announced the death of Sheriff Dunn in a fight with the mob the full story was not told. Dunn was on the side of Judge Botkin, and was his devoted defender. He was mortally wounded by the mob, but he emptied his revolver in the faces of his thirty murderers, and, turning to his followers, said: "They have hit me. I will be dead in half a minute. You must get out of here. Tell the judge it is sweet to die for one's friends!" And, with a bright smile on his face, this brave man met his fate. His last desire was to let his friend know that he did not regret losing his life in his service, but made the sacrifice with pride and pleasure. If one of Arthur's knights had stepped out of the pages of romance into this commonplace world of ours he could not have elf more gallantly than did this loyal sheriff when he sent this message with the death rattle in his throat. In this selfish age of plutocrats and paupers and cranks it startles the average reader to find an unknown western sheriff suddenly leaping to the supreme height of chivalry and dying like one of the heroes in the brave day of old.

Are They Trying to Defeat the Party? There need be no mincing of words in regard to the attempt to force on the democratic party the fag-end of a republican and monometallist scheme to defeat silver legislation. To call it a conspiracy is to treat it very respectfully indeed. It is an attempt to sell out southern and western democrats, and to turn the party over to the sinister elements which profess to wear its mantle in the east.

The international conference fraud played out during Mr. Cleveland's administration. The folly of the effort was exposed by the very man who was selected to further it. Mr. Edward Atkinson, furnished with credentials from the state department, visited the various capitals of Europe, and discovered for himself that his errand was a farcical one. The folly and futility of such a scheme can be discovered by studying the history of this country, and the relations which its financial legislation has borne to that of Europe. Mr. Cleveland's attempt to bring about an international conference was undoubtedly made in good faith. The renewal of the effort at this time is simply a movement which covers a scheme to inlefinitely postpone the silver question, and t is a postponement which the people will not tolerate. It is a scheme in which certain democratic politicians are to be made the ools of the very element which has profited by the demonetization of silver, and when the people of the west and south are asked to endorse such a scheme, they will decline with something more emphatic than thanks. The scheme may be endorsed by democrats who have already planted their feet firmly on the republican policy of gold monometal lism, but those who are behind the conspiracy and who are its engineers may as well be told now that their folly will not be endorsed by the people.

The scheme of an international monetary onference was never heard of or dreamed of in this country until it was, invented by the republicans and eastern monometallist for the purpose of diverting and weakening the rising tide of public opinion in favor of the free and unlimited coinage. It served that purpose well a few years ago, and it has been sprung again in the interest of the same greedy and unpatriotic element that employed it then. On these several occasions the congress of the United States has changed and modified the mint laws and regulated the value of its gold and silver coins, but never, until John Sherman and his tory and British coparceners consummated the crime of demonetizing silver, was an international monetary conference deemed necessary. During all the changes, amendments and modifications of our coinage laws from 1793, nearly one hundred years ago, until 1873, was it deemed necessary for the people of the United States to call to their assistance, in regulating the currency, the ringleaders and monarchies of Europe.

The very idea is a fraud on the face of it and is put forward with no other hope and no other purpose than to postpone, and, if possible, defeat the free coinage of silver in this country. Great Britain demonetized silver in 1816 and there was free coinage in the United States until 1873. Was there any trouble--any dislocation of our currency on that account? Yet if toryism and goldolatry had been as rampant during that fortythree years as they are now, there would have been a continual demand for an international conference in order that one might have the inestimable privilege of putting currency on a British basis. We want to warn those who are engaged in furthering this republican scheme that the democratic voters of the country are not to be deceived by any argument whatsoever. THE CON-STITUTION proposes to strip it of its plausibility and show it up as a bold conspiracy to turn the democratic party over to the monometallists and money sharks of the east. If Crisp and Hill and Gorman are in it, we warn them to come out and to shake their skirts clear of all odor and suggestion of participation; and the warning applies to all other democrats who propose to represent the people.

If an international conference is either necessary or desirable, the fact will appear after this country has gone back to the free coinage of silver. Let the United States restore silver to its old place in our currency. and then if the kingdoms and monarchies of Europe desire an international conference let them move for it. Whenever the democratic party takes the ground that it is the duty of this country to legislate for the convenience of Europe, it will invite defeat. The Sherman Silver Law.

One of the most singular freaks of the featherhead policy is the endorsement of the Sherman silver law, and the attempt to show that it is satisfactory to democrats. With this attempt has gone the statement that it was supported by democrats in congress.

The Sherman bill came from a conference committee, and was a strictly party measure in both the senate and the house. All the votes in favor of it were republican votes, and all the votes against it were democratic votes. The only free coinage men who voted for it were republicans.

As a matter of fact the endorsement of the Sherman law is a short cut to the approval of the Sherman act of demonetization. One is the natural supplement of the other. Democrats who endorse either do not belong in the democratic party.

OUGHTN'T WE to have an international conference on the McKinley law? If the demecrats propose to coddle the republicans on one issue, why not on all?

LEAVE THE free coinage issue out of the democratic platform and the Farmers' Alliance will become more of a problem than ever.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

A MEMEL NEWSPAPER, in a report on the emi-gration of Jews from Kussia, says: "The poorest of the poor, the miserable and the wretched ar-rive daily in this town. Even those who possess nothing in the world and who beg their way from place to place arrive in crowds. Scenes of horror and misery which defy description take place daily and hourly before our eyes. More than twenty thousand persons have in the last year passed through Memel. These have all in greater or less degree received assistance. The frontier committee, which is at present composed o twenty-four persons, is still fully occupied with the reception, the feeding and further journey of the unfortunates."

THE BOSTON TRANSCRIPT SAYS: "The decision of the supreme court that the 'habitual criminal' act is constitutional is a gratifying one. The act provides that on conviction of a third felony a person may be sentenced to the state prison for twenty-five years. The principle which underlies this legislation is a sound one. The man who pro-poses to live by preying upon the community has no right to live in the community. This is one of the propositions which prison reformers long ago laid down, and in securing the passage of the law, which the court now sustains, they have done the community a great service.'

There is only one way to make this possible and that is for the democratic house to ignore the great demands for financial reform. We want to see silver remonetized and want this democratic house, as did the last, to put itself on frank of record as against the demonetization fraud of 1873. Of course the democratic house should and will not be held responsible for the action of the republican senate and president. nursing with uncertain nobe a certificate for which they paid $30, entitling them, according to the printed contract on its face, to transportation to Liberia.

Gaston's name appears on the margin of the certificate. Gaston keeps his own council. He has no lieutenants. His followers know nothing except that he said he wanted a cera amount of money to hire a ship to carry m to Africa, and they paid in the stipulated amount.

This about sums up the African Emigration

Associations situation at present.

Some time ago Gaston told the association members in a public meeting that he would be able to ship 800 of them to Liberia on January 8th; that the arrangements for transportation to New York had already been ade and that the ship was there re made and that the ship was there ready to sail to Africa.

Two weeks ago today he left for New York. The appointed day for the departure of the emigrants came and passed, but not a word came from the man of whom they were expecting so much. Several private meetings have been held by members of the association to delete the metter and try to get a word of to debate the matter, and try to get a word of encouragement from the leader, but so far all efforts in the latter direction have proved fu-

"What is he doing there?" "I have no idea, nor has any one else here The probability is that if he honestly intends to carry out his project, he is in Washington asking the consideration of his memorial, which will be presented to congress, requesting assistance from the government. The fact is, I don't know but what the whole The fact is, I don't know but what the whole thing hinges on the disposition congress makes of that memorial, for since studying more closely the promises made by Gaston, they seem contingent upon aid from congress."

The killing occurred at a negro fair. It was the result of a quarrel over who should dance with a girl. After the shooting Atkinson escaped and came to Atlanta, where his family lives.

A Silly Charge Against the Jews. BERLIN, January 11.—The Kreuz Zeitung, referring to the release of the Jewish butcher ar rested at Xanten, on the charge of murdering Christian boy, insists that the release of the pris-oner was an error. The Kreuz Zeltung maintains the truth of the charges against the Jews of killing Christian children for the purpose of using their blood in their peculiar religious rites. The state of the boy's body, it says, proved that the murder was the work of a practiced slaughterer. The article has caused a sensation.

The Express Strike Ended.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., January 11 .- [Special.]-The strike of the Southern Express messengers is ended. They had a long consultation with offi-cials here last night and the grounds upon which Cordell was discharged were fully explained. As a result, all decided to return to work, and several took their runs this morning.

MRS. M, A. DOUGHERTY

Laid to Rest Yesterday Morning from the Church of Immaculate Conception.

FUNERAL OF MR. THOMAS J. SCULLY.

The Death of Mr. Adams Yesterday-The Death Record Throughout the City and State.

Mrs. Mary A. Dougherty was laid to rest yesterday morning.

The funeral services were held at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, and were very largely attended. Mrs. Dougherty's long residence in Atlanta brought about a correspond-ingly wide acquaintance, and those who knew the lady best esteemed her most for her many excellent traits of character.

Father Schadewell conducted the services very impressively. They were held about 10 o'clock, and many old and sorrowing friends were present.

The following gentlemen acted as pallbearers: Messrs. D. H. Dougherty, D. O. Stewart, R. D. Spalding, Jack J. Spalding, M. H. Dooly, Joseph Gatins, J. H. Mecaslin and Daniel O. Dougherty. The burial was at Oakland.

Mrs. Dougherty owned an estate valued at Mrs. Dougherty owned an estate valued at nearly a million dollars.

She died inestate and her daughter, Mrs. John H. Flynn, is her only heir.

The property of Mrs. Dougherty embraces the entire National hotel square, except those buildings fronting on Marietta street, and thirty houses and lots on Courtland and Piedmont avenues and Gilmer street.

She also held a large amount of railroad securities. These were worth more than one hundred thousand dollars.

Mr. Scully's Funeral.

The funeral of Mr. Thomas F. Scully took ace yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The services were held at Sardis church conducted by its pastor, and the little country house of worship was crowded to its utmost capacity by warm friends of Mr. Scully. The burial took place in the family burial grounds. The pallbearers were: Messra.

Amos Fox, T. T. Key, J. M. Heinz, Alex
Liebman, Alex Dittler and John Steinhauer.
Mr. Scully was a member of the Red Men, Royal Arcanum, Masons and Knights of Pythias.

Other Deaths.

Other Deaths.

Mr. L. D. Adams, a well-known grocer, died Sunday night at 10 o'clock at his home, 98 Pnostreet, after a four weeks' illness from dropsy. He was forty-nine years of age, and for twenty years had been a resident of Atlanta. Mr. Adams leaves a wife and five children, one son and four daughters. For a long time he had been a member of Merritts avenue church, and he lived a very consistent Christian life. He was prominently known, and on Peachtree street built up a fine trade as a grocer. The funeral will take place today from Sandy Springs church, eighteen miles north of Atlants.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. S. Frank Perkins will be sorry to hear of the death of their Infant daughter, Cora Lyle. Mr. Perkins is general manager for the Coaling Coal and Coke Company, but formerly lived in Atlanta. He and his family will reach Atlanta this morning, and will inter at Westview cemetery, from 348 Whitehall, this afternoon.

Mr. E. M. Gammage died yesterday afternoon at her home, two miles from Atlanta on the Central road. She was the wife of Mr. J. M. Gammage, and leaves a wide circle of friends to mourn her departure. The funeral will take place at the residence tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. The interment will be at Oakland.

Mr. Lucien Hornsby died Monday morning at his home near East Point, after several days ill-ness from la grippe. He was sixty-flue years of age and very well known. The funeral will take age and very well known. The funeral will take place today.

Mrs. T. Kirby was buried in Newnan yesterday. Her death was from severe influenza. She was seventy-eight years of age. Her life was remarkable for its wonderful unselfishness, will-power and energy. In ante-bellum days, when wealth reigned in her household, there was not in the south a more cordial hostess or a more generous and thoughtful mistress to the many slaves on the old plantation. There are many friends now living who have enjoyed the hospitalfites of her home, always open to her friends and the passing stranger. She was famous for excellent house-keeping. Mrs. Kirby was born and reared in South Carolina. Her father was of the Wilkins-Terrell families; her mother of the Lipscomb-Pickens families of Virginia and South Carolina. She leaves two sons and many grandchildren. Her grandchildren in Atlanta are Mr. E. E. Kirby, ticket agent of the East Fennessee railroad, Mrs. Judge Bigby, Mrs. Loulie M. Gordon. Other relations here are Mr. W. V. Draper, Mr. A. E. Thornton, Mr. Burrel Sanders, Colonel L. M. Terrell, Mrs. Haltiwanger and Mr. William Wilkins, who married Miss Avery. Hill to the Front. From The New Orleans States, Dem.

There is no doubt about the fact that Cleveland has for several months been steadily losing ground as a presidential possibility, and that so far as the democratic party is concerned Senator Hill is the political lion of the day. His masterly victory in New York, which has brought that state into the democratic column, was won by his re-markable pluck and sagacity, and the result is he is a prominent, in fact the most prominent figure now in his party, and the eyes of the whole people are upon him, consequently he is now in the lead of all the men who are talked of for the presidential

This is perfectly natural, however, because there is nothing in this world that succeeds success, and a man whose ability has enabled him to reach at one stride the leadership of a great party, is bound to excite wonder and admiration. The great political stroke of Senator Hill has made him intensely popular in his own state and that popularity is spreading all over the country as the people realize the importance of the victory he has won for the democracy and the bearing it will have on the next presidential contest.

WAS IT A BURGLARP A Bold Visitor to Judge Bigby's Home

Gets a Warm Reception. Gets a Warm Reception.

A would-be burglar was perhaps seriously wounded in Judge Bigby's yard last night.

About 10 o'clock members of Judge Bigby's family heard a noise, and a young man went out to ascertain whence it came. When he stepped into the yard he saw a man standing near the frent gate. As soon as the intruder found that he was discovered, he raised his revolver and fired at the young man.

The fire was returned and was instantly met by another shot from the burglar, who began a hasty retreat. The young man followed him, both firing as rapidly as opportunities presented.

Just outside the gate a well-aimed bullet brought the intruder to the ground, but he instantly arose and ran, making his escape.

Eight shots in all were fired—five by the burglar, and three by the young man who was pursuing him. Stones were thrown into the house by the intruders, and two or three windows were broken and other damage done. The young man who engaged in the shooting with the burglar says he is sure that it was a white

Atlanta is outgrowing the present depot.

The railroads are cramped now, and it is only matter of a little time when the accommoda-large the baggage, ticket and waiting-room departments is a difficult problem. Architects and engineers have grappled with it, but it has baffled them. The public can not be inconvenienced for the convenience of the corpora-tions, and the three most important adjuncts of a depot cannot very well be put up in a second story with the tracks on the street.

A year ago there was a plan to build a new station, handsome, costly and roomy, in the neighborhood of the Western and Atlantic oundhouse. Different sites were proposed.

One was where the Atlanta soap factory stands. Plans for a building were drawn and

Jay Gould came along and was pleased with the present depot, and said that it should be used as long as possible. Mr. Gould's opinion gave the movement a black eye at the monent. With the lapse of months the bruise has disappeared, so to speak, and the matter is being agitated again.

From good authority THE CONSTITUTION learns that the Chattahoochee Land Company is willing to donate a large tract at the river for shops and other purposes. That triangular piece of land between the Western and Atantic the Central and the East Tennessee tracks belongs to the state of Georgia, and is included in the lease to the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis. To get the state's permission to remove the shops of its road to the river, the donation of the tract there would have to be to the state, or at least a part of it would go to Georgia. With the erection of a depot on the site of the Western and Atlantic shops, or in that vicinity, the great bulk of the train movements across Whitehall, Pryor and Loyd streets would disappear, and the list of fatalities at those crossings would seldom have an addition. The Georgia road, the Georgia.

Carolina and Northern and the Air-Line are the only roads which would have to run through the city, and two tracks would enable them to move their passenger trains in and out. That is what is said.

A gentleman who is posted on the new movement said to a Constitution reporter strong prospect of carrying the scheme through.

enlarge its freight depot facilities, and is making important improvements. In this connection you will notice that a roadway is Increased facilities will have to be provided before long and a new depot is only a question of time.

Does Not Want a Vice Presidency. The Richmond and Danville's annual election is set for today. It was to be held last week, but was postponed. Nothing startling is looked for, as a slate has probably been arranged.

It is intimated that the plan to make General Manager Green a vice president has been abandoned, as he does not want the position. He said yesterday to a CONSTITUTION reporter that he would rather be general manager than a vice president any day. He likes the activity required in operating a big system. That is his line exactly, and he does not care about managing the finances. His forte is running a railroad to make money.

"My Boy" is a new and original comedy, farcical in its action and intensely amusing in its situations. It is calculated to keep an audience in almost continual laughter and, although the part of Johnny cannot be a cepted as other than a most exaggerated sketch, it affords Mr. Clarke ample scope for some excellent comedy acting, and every opportunity given is fully utilized. Each movement is a study, and in facial expression and in fact, every detail of the performance is excellent, and it frequently called forth manifestations of the heartiest approval on the part of the audience. The star's make-up, too, was fine, and his appearance was a signal for hearty laughter. The character of Florence Courtney was charmingly rendered by Miss Victory Bateman. Her impersonations were full of charm. The girlish fun irrepressibly bubbling up throughout the evening was delighfully represented. Mr. Walter Hale and Mrs. Georgie Dickson were admirable as the two haughty members of the "beau monde." Mr. Ernest Tarleton, Mr. W. H. Bokee, Mr. R. C. Chamberlin, Miss Holden and Miss Howard rendered splendid support in their respective roles. A word of praise is justly due Mr. Calvert for an excellent little bit of character acting.

In the farce which followed Mr. Clarke renewed nis former triumplis as Poor Pillicoddy, Miss Bateman was delightful and Mr. Baker admirable. For hearty laughter, g-naine acting and excellent plays tius company holds a very high rank in the estimation of the Atlanta public, and justly so.

Both suits were dismissed. A Damage Suit.

The trial of the suit for $15,000 damages of George W. Watts vs. the Georgia Pacific was begun in Judge Van Epps's court yesterday and will be continued today.

The plaintiff was represented by Messrs.

Glenn & Slaton.

The forepart of Watts's right foot was cut off by a Georgia Pacific train while standing on one of its tracks, attending to his duties.

Courthouse Notes. The county commissioners meet today, and important business will be transacted.

THE EQUITABLE BUILDING. Offices Now Being Arranged to Suit Ten-

The Equitable building is rapidly being built. It will be ready for occupancy by next May. The partitions are now being put in, and those who would like to have offices arranged to suit them can do so without cost by calling on Mr. Litt Bloodworth, Jr., secretary

East Atlanta Land Company.

There is no more desirable location in Atlanta for offices than the Equitable building; being located right in the center of the city, with rapid elevators and every modern convenience, it is an ideal place for an office. Of course you want an office—a good office—convenient and arranged to suit your needs. That being the case, have Mr. Bloodworth fix it just like you want it. However, in order to do this, you must let him know in the next few days, as the partitions are being put in right now. Call at East Atlanta Land Company, corner Edgewood avenue and Ivy street and see Mr. Bloodworth nearly a decade, and it has always played to good business.

The success of "The Two Johns" does not mean that it can be compared with Miss Tanner's performance or Mr. Gillette's plays. It has no such pretension. "The Two Johns," like "Alvin Joslin" and "McCarthy's Mishaps," caters to a certain class of theatergoers, and the fastidious ones well know that such plays are not made for them.

Mr. Stewart complained about the report that the company played in Columbus to an audience of forty people. Mr. Stewart exhibited the statements of his business there, signed by Mr. Springer, the owner of the opera house, and the statements showed that at the matinee over three hundred tickets were sold. "If the performance of the matinee had been so bad," said he, "it would certainly have killed the night performance. Yet the house at night had also over three hundred tickets sold, and then there were the complimentaries. The following day, Friday, January Sth, The Columbus Enquirer Sun gave the following notice:

sth. The Columbus Enquirer Sun gave the following notice:

"The performance of the 'Two Johns' at the opera house last night attracted a good crowd.
There is nothing strong in the piece, and some of the situations are ludicrous, but could be made more effective. The piece, however, is extremely funny, and the various mishaps which occur, growing out of the remarkable likeness between the Two Johns, kept the house in a continual laughter, and everybody left in good humor."

The "Two Johns" will be repeated today at matinee and night.

He was busy all of yesterday putting the plan before those who are capable of carrying it out to success, and when asked about the results of his conferences, said with that suggestiveness that always carries significance with it:

make a desperate effort to get the encampment."

Mr. Thompson has been talking with a number of the board of directors of the Piedmont Exposition Company along this line, and finds them all "red-hot for the encampment," as he expressed it.

There is going to be a meeting of the Piedmont exposition directors in a few days for no other purpose than to discuss this very plan, and every one of the directors ought to be there. The meeting will be called to decide whether to offer the Piedmont park and the entire exposition grounds to the encampment.

The decision is almost certain to be affirmative, and this will be quite an inducement to bring the soldiers here, Of course, there will be other inducements to accompany this offer.

The street car company should, and doubtless will do its full share towards getting the advisory board to decide in Atlanta's favor. Other men should interest themselves in the matter without delay.

There will be a large amount of money brought here by the encampment if Atlanta does get it. There are always thousands of visitors in attendance upon the encampments, and thousands of dollars spent.

A MAP OF ATLANTA,

The First Atlanta Has Had in Twenty-Four Years,

HAS BEEN GOTTEN OUT FOR USE.

It Was Compiled by Secretary H. G. Saunders, of the Chamber of Commerce, Who Spent Several Years on It.

A new and comprehensive map of Atlanta has just been completed. It is the first that has been published sinca the "Cooper map," which was gotten out in Mr. H. G. Saunders, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, is the compiler, and he has spent three or four years gathering the necessary data and information. The map is a very complete one, showing the entire city, including the territory added by the recent extension of the limits.

All the streets, with their recent changes of names, are there, together with the ward boundaries, railroads and all street car lines. On every corner in the city is placed the new

On every corner in the city is placed the new street number, which will enable any house to be readily located.

The churches, schools and public buildings are all marked out, and even every manufactory in Atlanta is shown.

"That will be the best way in the world," said Mr. Saunders yesterday, "to convince a stranger in the city of our extensive manufacturing interests here. You might stand and tell him about them all day, but it will go through one ear and come out of the other. through one ear and come out of the other But point them out and it makes a sure im pression."

The map is printed on canvas, and is five feet square. It is arranged on a scale of 400 feet to the inch. The altitude above the sea level of the principal local points is marked out. The Capital City Club is the highest in the city—1,092 feet.

At every quarter of a mile concentric circles are arranged. One can easily see just how far any given location is from the union depot any given location is from the union depot.

The street car lines over the city are all marked out by hand, and the red lines representing them cover the map with a perfect net-

The map was gotten up by Mr. Saunders for his own convenience. The one the father of Mr. John Tyler Cooper got out for the city twenty-four years ago cost Atlanta just $10,000. This one was not as expensive, but Mr. Saunders of the control of the control

Notes.

New York stocks closed a little lower than the opening, with one or two exceptions, but the declines are unimportant. An old Wall street practice is to buy on Tuesdays and sell on Fridays, but I don't know of any reason why trades should not be as profitable on other days. As the Atlanta and West Point road has no mort-gage indebtedness, and there is a good demand for first-class bonds on a 5 per cent basis, why is not this a favorable time to bring out an issue of this charac-ter and fund their 6 per cent certificates of indebted-

The issue would be only about $5,000 per mile, fixed charge not more than $55,000 per mile, axed charge not more than $55,000 per annum, and the holders of certificates would, I believe, willingly accept them in lieu of present holdings.

While interest would be 1 per cent per annum less certificates bear, the bonds would be non-taxable run for a long period and be secured by a mortgage, all of these features adding greatly to the value of bonds, making them readily saleable at good prices.

The Atlanta and West Point has always occupied a front seat as a steady, reliable dividend and interest-payer, and no railway in the south could bring out an ue of bonds that would command the confidence of

THE NEW YORK MARKET.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange. NEW YORK. January 11 .- The stock market today

NEW YORK, January II.—The stock market today was still rather reactionary in its temper, but the weakness noted was more the effect of free realizations in Reading than any desiry to liquidate in the general list, and, except in a few instances, the final changes were insignificant. There were heavy buying orders in the market at the opening, but, while there was some improvement in values, selling was very heavy, and, being quite scattering, was untraceable, as usual of late, until liquidation in Reading started. usual of late, until liquidation in Reading started. The opening was generally at insignificant changes from Saturday's prices, and considerable activity marked the early dealings, with some improvement in prices, though only New England displayed any marked strength. The pressure became too much for the decreasing demand, and prices yielded before noon, without making any important loss outside of Distillers. Richmond and West Point stocks were strong, however, but moved within narrow limits, and among the specialities only Pullman scored a material gain. The whole market rallied after the announcement of dividends on Reading, but later selling for Philadelphia account wiped out the advances, and the list never regained its strength during the day. The close was active and weak, generally at small factions were 25 per cent in Distillers and 1 per cent in Reading, while Chicago Gas scored a flual gain of the period. J. S. Bache & Co.'s Stock Letter. J. S. Rache & Co.'s Stock Letter.

NEW YORK, January 11.—The London market bought at first, then turned seiler as the market rallied. The market lopened about steady, but the activity of last week was wanting. The cliques were at work bidding up their specialties, but, as has been the case for three or four days, a good deal of long stock is met when prices advance. The feature of today's trading was Reading stock. It advanced 1 per cent above the closing price and bull points were per cent above the closing price and bull points were distributed far and wide. The traders in the room jumped in and bought a good deal of this stock while pumped in and bought a good deal of this stock while Philadelphia was a steady seller. In the afternoon it became known that 5 per cent had been declared on the first incomes and 4½ per cent on the second incomes, being the surplus earnings for the year. At the same time a new issue of $10,000,000 in 5 per cent collateral trust bonds was authorized, of which we understood two millions have been disposed of. This money is to be used for betterments: for the purchase of new cars, etc. This new issue of bonds was a complete surprise to the street; nothing had been hinted about it and a scramble to sell ensued, carrying the price down 2 per cent. People nowadays don't stop to consider what a bond-issue is for, but they sell their stock as soon as such news is received. The price of Reading will depend, to a great extent, on the meeting of the Coal combination that is to take place at the end of the week. A very important meeting of the Western Traffic Association is called for tomorrow at the Windsor hotel, this city. Several very important matters are to come up and their deliberations may have quite an effect on speculation. Tomorrow is settling day in London, and as there is a small short interest over there, prices may be a little stronger, but we still believe that it is advisable to take profits on all rallies. Philadelphia was a steady seller. In the afternoon it

NEW YORK. January 11.—The Liverpool market declined 3@4-64d at the opening today and had lost an-other fraction by the close. In New York at 1 o'clock other fraction by the close. In New York at 1 o'clock prices are about 13 points lower than on Saturday and 3 points lower than the lowest figures previously reached for the March option. The decline in Liverpool, as our cables advise us, is due to the large estimates cabled from this side. Here the weakness is ascribed to the disappointment resulting from the continued large receipts. New Orleans failed to receive today quite as much cotton as had been expected, but the other ports are larger than last year in most intoday quite as much cotton as had been expected, but the other ports are larger than last year in most instances, and the total for the day promises to be 31,000 bales, against 28,000 bales last year. The condition of the market during the past few days seems to bear a close analogy to that period on convalescent prostration which always follows a serious case of sickness, although the patient may have passed the crisis of his disease. People who bought cotton with confidence to a pound higher are now apparently afraid to hold, and are from day to day throwing it over and thereby checking any incipient disposition towards improvement. Meantime we continue to note an exansion of ment. Meantime we continue to note an expansion of outside interests, and increased though quiet purchases on the part of the investing class. After I o'clock the narket declined 1@5 points more under the liquidation of an important long interest, but toward the close constant absorption of cotton by a fresh buying ele-ment commenced to show its effect, and the market recovered the extreme and closed firm about 13 points below lest toward.

January contracts have today sold below 7c a pound, and on this basis many are coming to regard the article as very reasonable.

Lehman Bros.' Cotton Letter.

By private wire to A. P. Youngblood.

NEW YORK, January 11—Today's market has been a repetition of what we have seen during the past few weeks—a steady opening followed by utter demoralization during the day. The same causes have continued at work and though and the same causes have continued. at work and there was no surprise when it was again said that New Orleans would tomorrow have 30,000 bales, upon which news being reported the selling was renewed, and of course forced the decline. There was a steady stream of long stuff coming on the market from after the call, and only towards the close was a slight recovery made. The discouragement that goes with the decline is greater than we have seen it before, which is quite natural with the tremendous losses which there who believed in certage are now inconvince. at work and there was no surprise when it was again which those who believed in cotton are now incurring We can hardly realize, from the tenor of what we hav been getting, where all the cotton comes from. What ever may be said to the contrary, it is there, and as as this natural pressure exists it will be difficult to look for an advance, but that same will come sooner or later, we have little doubt, and under the circumstances we believe the article cheap.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, January 11 .- Wheat took another tumbl CHICAGO, January II.—Wheat took another tumble n price today, closing 1½c lower than it left off on Saturday. The chief factor in the depression was the snowfall, which was reported as covering practically the entire winter wheat belt, but other influences, principally foreign advices, helped the decline. The price of May at the start was from £2½c in some parts of the pit to £2½c in others, but settled in a couple of seconds around the lower of these quotations. Under there is a ling it continued to go off in wise. This liberal se ling it continued to go off in price tili it reached 91% e near the close, and closed steady at 91% c. There was a fair amount of speculative business done There was a fair amount of speculative business done in corn, and prices were steady. In the cash market, however, there was considerable weakness and a decline of ic in price of through-biled. Very little was offered to go to store. The close was at medium figures and a shade better than Saturday's for near-by options but a little lower for May.

Trading in oats was light, and the market did little more than symmathing with wheat. May continued to Hog products were equiet and easier, and prices were 5@10e lower. The weakness in wheat was also felt sympathetically. There was some reaction from the lowest point, and the changes at the close, compared with the prices of Saturday, are not marked.

The leading futures ranged as follows in hicago today.

Lamson Bros. & Co.'s Grain Letter. CHICAGO, January 11.-The wheat market was again disappointing to holders; continental markets decidedly lower; English showed a small decine. Our clearances were about 425,000 wheat and wheat flour. clearances were about 425,000 wheat and wheat flour. The shipments to the United Kingdom and the continent were about 1,300,000 below the weekly requirements. Holders, who have been holding wheat for a good while are beginning to feel their loss quite sensibly, some of them selling out, causing quite numerous stop orders, which is one of the principal causes for the decline today. Nearly all the wheat held in Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago, and a portion of that in New York, is hedged in this market by selling short for May delivery. Our trade at the present is too narrow to absorb all these offerings and susent is too narrow to absorb all these offerings and sus-

The demand for sample lots of oats and corn is good but the movement is light and the operative trade within a very narrow range.

The large receipts of hogs and the decline in wheat had a degressing effect on hog products.

Prices, however, were fairly well maintained and ap-pear in a healthy condition.

1. In 1837, although there was a general penal statute operative throughout the state making it a misdemeanor to keep open a tippling-house on the Sabbath day, there was nothing to inhibit the general assembly from passing a local statute for the city of Augusta empowering the city council wo pass all ordinances in relation to keeping open tippling-houses on the Sabbath day in said city.

2. The language of the third section of the act of December 22, 1857, being that, "the city council of Augusta are hereby further empowered to pass all ordinances in relation to keeping open tippling-houses on the Sabbath day in said city," etc., the authority was delegated to the city council to enact an ordinance in these terms: "No retailer shall sell or furnish to any person or persons, spirituous, vinous or fermented liquors on Sandays, nor shall they, when thus not permitted to sell, open, have or keep open the doors or windows of their retail shops; and this provision applies to any bar-room, tippling-house, shop, store or confectionery in which liquors are sold or furnished."

Where, according to the usual course of business of a partnership which transacted a wharfage business for itself and represented a transportation company in the collection of freights, a clerk of the partnership was in the habit of delivering bills of lading to customers and receiving from them checks in prepayment of bills for freight and wharfage; and, acting in comformity to this custom, such clerk received a check from a customer payable to the order of one of the partners (agent) or bearer, collected the money and fraudulently converted the same of his own use, he was not guilty of the statutory offense of larceny after a trust delegated upon an indictment charging that he was entrusted by the customer's use and benefit, the trust created by the customer's use and benefit, the trust created by the transaction as a whole not being one between the partnership and the clerk. The delivery of the check and the collection of the money upon it operated as a payment of the bill against the customer, and furnished a fund for which the clerk was accountable to his employers.

The charter of a company granted by the legislature in 1859 to construct and maintain a rurn-pike road, "to be constructed and laid on and over the bed" of a certain designated public highway then existing, invested the company, after the construction was completed according to the terms of the charter, with the exclusive title and ownership of the highway on and over the bed of which the turnpike road was constructed and laid. And though, after the adoption of the constitution of 1877, the limits of a city adjacent to one of the termini of the turnpike road were extended so as to throw the toll-house and a considerable section of the road inside of the new city limits, the city authorities could not, without condemnation proceedings and making compensation, appropriate to public use such section of the road by adopting it as a street; nor could they extend across said road any of the streets, save on like terms.

A Spicy Order from the School Commissioner About

THOSE CHARTS FOR FULTON'S SCHOOLS

He Says Every Cent Must Be Refunded to the Patrons and Pupils-A Scolding from the Commissioner.

Those charts seem to be getting the Fulton county board of education into pretty deep water, after all.

purchased a lot of charts at a cost of about nine hundred dollars, and how some trouble arose over the question of raising the money to pay for them. Everybody knows how the board recently yesterday morning in the statehouse in the shape of an order from State School Commissioner Bradwell, which was sent to the Fulton county school commissioner, Hon. J. N. Fan.

It reads us follows:

Fa'n.

It reads us follows:

Opprice of State School Commissioner, Attana, Ga., January 9, 1831.—Hon. J. N. Fain, tounty School Commissioner, Atlanta, Ga. Dear Sir: The county commissioner is the medium of communication between the state school commissioner and the subordinate school officers. You will, therefore, communicate to the board of education of Fulton county the following ruling and instructions from this department:

The school law gives the power to county boards to purchase "maps, globes and school furniture," and they are invested with the "title, care and customy" of these things, as well as other property owned by the tourd.

There is also in this school law the proviso:
"That no publisher of school books, nor any agent for such publisher, nor any person who shall be pseumarily interested in the sale of school books, shall be eligible for election as a member of any board of education or as county school commissioner in any county in this state."

It necessarily follows that the board of education of Fulton dounty has full power to purchase maps, globes and charts of the subjects taught in the common schools—all comprehend-dunder this head—but no power to self them to toachers, trustees, parents or any one. The title to this property vest: in the board and their successors in office. The board can only furnish them to the schools holding the teachers responsible for criminal negligence or abuse; and when the schools are out, they should can only furnish them to the schools holding the teachers responsible for criminal negligence or abuse; and when the schools are out, they should require them to be returned.

When the purchase of these very important adjuncts to the schoolroom can be made by the beards without detriment to the p vy of the leachers, I would advise boards to use their discretionary power and per-th se charts for the use of the schools, but the "title, care and custody" remains in the boards.

schools, but the "time, care and the boards."
There is no law which can possibly be constructed into a requirement on the part of the teacher to pay let any article of "maps, globes, or second apparatus" or for any license or contract to teach in the public schools; and even when they wish to purchase these things on their own which in they must get them elsewhere, as the worken, they must get them elsewhere, as teach in the public schools; and even when they wish to purchase these things on their own motion, they must get them elsewhere, as the board, or any member thereof, is prohibited from acting as agent in the purchase of any books or school supplies.

Nor is there any law compelling the patrons of the school to purchase these things. The board of education is not at liberty to advance money to teachers or patrons for the purchase money to teachers or patrons for the purchase of these things. The board can use discretionary power in purchasing and furnishing to the schools, or a part of them, school charts, but the title must remain in the board.

In accordance with this ruling, I direct the board of education of Fulton county to dispose of no more charts to the teachers of the public schools of Fulton county, or the local trustees or patrons of said school, or receive money therefor from said teachers, trustees or patrons.

I further direct that the money which has already been paid by teachers or patrons be refunded, when funds are in hands; and any contracts for the payment of money from said teachers or patrons be cancelled; and that title to this property must vest in the board of education of Fulton county. Yours respectfully,

And this means business. There is no higher court to which the board of education of Fulton county can appeal for judgment, except the state board.

What Commissioner Bradwell says is law, unless the state board orders otherwise.

Now, what is to become of the charts? is a pertinent question.

391/2 WHITEHALL STREET. ATLANTA - - GA. HIS CHILD DIED,

But the Father Was in Jail and Couldn't

A moonshiner received the saddest of tidings at Fulton county jail yesterday.

It was the announcement of the death of his only child at his home in Felton, Haralson county. With this was a petition, freely signed, begging the United States authorities to release him for a few days to look upon his little one's face for the last time.

The man's name is James Wesson, and one month ago he received a sentence of four months' imprisonment for illicit distilling.

The request was referred to Mr. E. A. An-The request was referred to Mr. E. A. Angier, assistant district attorney, with an earnest appeal from the prisoner. It was necessary to secure the permission of Judge W. T. Newman, and to him the petition was carried by a representative who had come up from Haralson

That was at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. An hour earlier the judge had left for Colum-

It was too late. The petition was worthless, permission was unobtainable, and back to the jail the information was carried. The poor fellow, once the hardened mountaineer, broke down and wept like a child when the tidings reached him. But there was no help; he was compelled to suffer his sorrow between the jail walls, away from his strick-

Danced the House Down. JESUP, Ga., January 11.—[Special.]—Sheriff J. D. Robinson had a dance out at his house the other night, and we hear they danced the house down, promisenously piling the dancers up in one corner. The sheriff then invited them into another room to see if they could dance that down.

THEIR CASE TO BE CALLED TODAY

Before Judge Landrum-One Is Annie Searcy, and She Was Released on Bond-The Others Negroes.

Annie Searcy, the woman whose house was burned night before last, will appear this after-noon at 2 o'clock before Justice Landrum. She will be called upon to answer the charge

Two negro women, Minnie Hamilton and Mamie Whitaker, will be arraigned accused with being accomplices in the case. The three women were arrested and locked up early yesterday morning. Several hours before Officer Patterson was patroling Thompson street. The smell of smoke attracted him to the house of Annie

He went to it and notified her. Without the least concern the reply came quickly:
"Oh, it's nothing but a rug that I threw into the fire," and the woman resumed reading a

A few minutes later two inmates, Minnie Thompson and Florence Brown, came home. They had told the proprietress of their summons before the police commissioners to testify against an officer. As soon as they entered they detected the Immediately they ran out to give an alarm, and then quickly returned to save their be longings. They reached their rooms, which were adjoining, and were astonished. Before they left they had placed the keys on the inside. The doors were now locked, and the keys could not be found.

The firemen quickly responded, and the fire was traced to the rooms of the two girls. The doors were burst open, and a stifling smoke immediately issued.

Almost blinded, the firemen went to work and soon had the blaze extinguished. Then the beds were found burned almost up.

and finally felt justified in arresting all three. They were brought to the station house and Yesterday they were carried before Justice Landrum by Detective Looney, and a warrant charging them with arson was sworn out.

They were placed under a bond of $2,500. Annie Searcy furnished it and was released; the negro women were unable to, and they are still in the station house lockup.

still in the station house lock-up.

The detectives think they have a strong case to bring against them this afternoon. There was a fire at the house on Saturday under suspicious circumstances, and the firemen had hard work. Annie Searcy has an insurance policy of sub-stantial size, and it would have expired in a CAR SERVICE ASSOCIATION.

Traffic Men State That One Would Be a Great Help.

A car service association is needed in Atlanta.
Under the rules of the state railroad commission, as laid down in circular 203, issued last December, demurrage charges are fixed.
To properly enforce these rules there should be a car service association, the traffic men

sav.

Such an organization would consist of a small force of clerks whose duty it would be to keep a record of the arrival and departure of all freight cars. Notice must be given promptly to consignees when cars arrive, and it would be the duty of the association to do that. The demurrage charge on package freight is not to exceed ten cents per ton on carload lots, and one cent per hundred pounds ou less than carload lots where the cars are on less than carload lots where the cars are not unloaded within forty-eight hours after notice is given, Sundays and legal holidays not

On bulk freight, like hay, coal, grain, lime and wood, demurrage is charged by the car and

A car service association was discussed some time ago and left for the superintendents to act upon, but they have not done anything. These associations hurry up the movements of cars

TO CONSOLIDATE.

Two Railway Associations Expected to Unite Tomorrow.

The Southern Railway and Steamship As-The Southern Railway and Steamship Association and the Southeastern Mississippi Valley Association are expected to perfect a consolidation tomorrow or on Friday.

Traffic Manager Hass and Assistant Traffic Manager Culp left for New York yesterday to attend tomorrow's meeting. After the con-solidation the Richmond and Danville's insolidation the Richmond and Danville's in-fluence will not be so strong as heretofore. Being such a large and powerful system it has been able to boss things in the association to some extent, and the other lines have chafed under what they called "discrimination." The talk about Colonel Stahlman being made

The talk about Colonel Stahlman being made commissioner after the consolidation originated with the Mississippi Valley lines. Here in Atlanta it is doubted by railway men if Colonel Stahlman would accept were the place offered to him. He resigned the vice presidency of the Louisville and Nashville to get out of active work, and he is said to have interests which would interfere with the duties of the commissionership.

On Friday the passenger men met in New York.

Agents Talk of Organizing. The local freight agents of the railroads en-tering Atlanta held an informal meeting yes-terday afternoon at the general offices of the

They have a project to form an association of their own. This meeting was merely a pre-liminary one. The matter was talked over, and the sentiment of the agents was in tavor organization.

Occasionally an agent gets a bad check from a shipper. It is the agent's personal loss. The agents can protect each other better by having an organization, and one will probably be formed after awhile.

Rate Clerks Meet. The regular quarterly meeting of the rate clerks of the Southern Passenger Association is being held in Atlanta.

Several members arrived yesterday and had feel so and look so—and that is, that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is guaranteed to help her.

No business of special importance is expected to come up, the chief work being the revision and correction of the rate sheet.

A New Depot on the A. and W. P. R. R.

New Depot on the A. and W. P. R. R A New Depot on the A. and W. P. R. R.

LAGRANGE, Ga., January 12.—[Special.]—Information received from a gentleman who is placed in a position to know, has been given your correspondent that Captain Tyler now has in his possession the plans for a very handsome freight and passenger depot, to be erected at this place very soon. If what we learn be true the depot when completed will be the handsomest and most conveniently arranged one between Atlanta and Montgomery. It is earnestly hoped by our people, and the traveling public generally, that at no distant day our long felt want may be realized. The present accommodations are altogether inadequate for the passenger and freight traffic.

RAILROAD MEN FAVOR IT.

They Would Like to See a New and Hand some Union Depot.

The proposed new union depot strikes the fancy of the railroad men. Most of them would be glad to see a commodious and handsome building in the neighborhood of the Western and Atlantic's shops.

Atlanta's rapid growth has made the present depot facilities inadequate. Take the East Tennessee, for example. While it pays $1,290 a month for the privilege of running into the depot, it does not get under the shed, or at least not often, and has to take a track outside.

The tracks under the shed are crowded

The tracks under the shed are crowded several times every day. When railroad men are asked how the facilities there can be enlarged they say that they see no way except to encroach on the restaurant. There was a plan to put the baggage room across Wall street and have it transferred through a tunnel under the street. This would require elevators and it never met the full aprequire elevators and it never met the Iuli approval of the railroad people.

Half a million dollars would be needed to put up such a depot as Atlanta deserves, and that sum of money seems to be the chief obstacle in the way of a quick carrying out of the movement.

THE CORRESPONDENCE CONTINUES.

'One Who Left His Job' Has Another Word to Say. The following communication will explain

EDITOR CONSTITUTION-I notice that G. E. Stillman, "president pro tem.," has written a card in which he states that he does not believe that the card signed as this one is, which appeared in yesterday morning's Constitution, was written by any of the men belonging to the Street Railway Employes' Union, and surmising that it was written in The Constitution office by an employe. Brother Stillman also says that The Constitution of the power which would STITUTION refused to print the news which would have benefited the strikers Saturday night. nave benefited the strikers Saturday night.

Now I know all about this matter, and do no propose to see The Constitution misrepresented. If had wanted him to know who wrote the card I would have signed it. But for reasons suitable to myself, the signature below is satisfactory. My name is not necessary. What the public wants is information.

My name is not necessary. What the public wants is information.

As stated in my card in Tuesday's Constitution, that paper has been perfectly fair with us, and we recognize the fact that there is no selfish motive behind it. Not a line which has been sent to THE CONSTITUTION in writing has been withheld, but on the other hand, every appeal that we have made has been given to the public through its columns, and it published our first address in full at our request. As to the complaint that something was left out Saturday night, I have found on inquiry that nothing has been leftout purposely, and that THE CONSTITUTION has given every assurance that its reports would be perfectly impartial, as they have been.

its reports would be perfectly impartial, as they have been.

I think Brother Stillman has gotten us into enough of trouble at present and that it would be well for him to go out and soak his head.

In this connection let me say that some of the speeches of the blooming young jay birds who have been advising us what to do, at the courthouse, have been very amusing. I hear that that littlefellow Manning who devoted his tine Tuesday night to criticising THE CONSTITUTION, has been swarming around that office for a job for the past week, and that only a few days ago it extended him, at his request, the courtesy of transportation from Atlanta to Birmingham and return. He has been, I hear, recently "bounced" by, The American Press Association, and is therefore in a splendid position to advise other people out of a job what to do.

position to advise other people out of a job what to do.

Oh, these blooming young orators do amuse us, and no wonder everybody in town is talking about them. However, all this information does not interest me especially. I simply investigated, on seeing the insidious effort being made from an other quarter to injure THE CONSTITUTION, to satisfy myself, and I have given it to the public for what it is worth.

And now let me in conclusion ask why it is that Brotner Stillman wants to attribute my card to any other source than to me? I quote the conclusion of my first card, and will ask what is there in the sentiment that would make him think that any one else but a believer in our cause was responsible for the card. This is what I said:

"As for the strike against the Consolidated company, we believed that we were doing right and stood on principle. If others have been chosen to fill the places vacated by us, we at least have the satisfaction of knowing that we did what we thought right, and that we fought for a principle, which should be, if it is not sustained."

If The Constitution wrote it, and that is, the paper's sentiment, why should Brother Stillman be kicking?

What the Great Men Say About It-A Remarkable Book.

Mr. Donald Makenzie is in the city with a remarkable book, the title of which is "That Unknown Country." It is, in brief, a compendium—the beliefs of all religious denominations about the future life.

the future life.

Of this book Dr. J. B. Hawthorne says:

"After a brief examination of the work, "That Unknown Country," I take pleasure in saying that it contains the very best thoughts of the ablest of modern theologians upon a subject with which all nen should make themselves familiar. I most heartly commend it to the public,
